Here is a list of the publications of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics that are available now. We have added a list of charts published or revised during the last two years.

If you'll take a minute to read this note, you can help yourself get the facts and figures you want, and you can avoid the time and expense of asking for publications that you may not want or need.

Some folks ask us to put them on the mailing list for "everything" BAE publishes, just to make sure they get the few reports they really want. But some of our reports are useful only to persons interested in honey and beeswax and some of them only to persons interested in truck crops. Very few people really need all of them. So this is what we suggest:

If you want some of the "one time only" research reports, ask us to send you our monthly Check List of BAE Publications (it also lists all the maps and charts released during the month,) and then write for the report you want.

If you want certain statistics regularly just as soon as they are released, find out which report publishes the figures first. For instance, detailed figures on prices received by farmers are published first in "Agricultural Prices" which is mimeographed each month. They are summarized a few weeks later in the Agricultural Situation and the different commodity situation reports. Among the reports that make the first release of figures are the crop and livestock reports listed on pages 16 to 22, The National Food Situation, The Farm Income Situation, The Marketing and Transportation Situation, and Current Developments in Farm Real Estate.

If you are interested in an analysis of supply, demand and price outlook you will want either The Agricultural Outlook Digest (a very brief summary) or The Demand and Price Situation (which gives more detail for the general economic situation and individual commodities) or one of the individual reports such as The Livestock and Meat Situation.

If you want county figures, you'll have to get them from the Census of Agriculture taken every 5 years by the Bureau of the Census (U. S. Department of Commerce) or else write to the Agricultural Statistician of your State (listed on pages 4 to 5) to see if he has later estimates for the particular subject you want.

If you still are not sure which publication will serve you best, write to us, telling us what you want as specifically as possible. We want to help you, but please don't ask to be put on the mailing list for a monthly publication unless you have seen a sample copy and are sure you want it. And please do ask us to take your name off the mailing list whenever you no longer want a publication you are getting.

THE BUREAU OF AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS

WORK OF THE BUREAU

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics is the primary agency in the Department of Agriculture for the collection and dissemination of agricultural statistics, for economic research, and for the dissemination of the results thereof. As a staff agency of the Secretary, it also coordinates the statistical work and economic research of the Department.

The Bureau acquires, analyzes, interprets, and diffuses economic information relating to agricultural production and distribution, land utilization and conservation in their broadest aspects, including farm management and practice, utilization of farm and food products, purchasing of farm supplies, farm population and rural life, consumer preferences in regard to foods and fabrics, farm labor, farm finance, insurance and taxation, adjustments in production to probable demand for the different farm and food products, land ownership and values, and costs, prices, and income in relation to agriculture, including causes for their variations and trends.

The Bureau also collects, compiles, abstracts, analyzes, summarizes, interprets, and publishes economic and statistical data relating to agriculture and food. These data include crop and livestock estimates, stocks and value of farm crops; and numbers, classes, and value of livestock and livestock products on farms. Finally, the Bureau helps to formulate programs for the authorized activities of the Department. Each month the Bureau determines and publishes parity or comparable prices for agricultural commodities.

The Bureau conducts and cooperates in conducting research on a variety of projects authorized under the Research and Marketing Act. Results are published either by the Bureau or by cooperating agencies.

The Bureau also employs agricultural statisticians, most of them in cooperation with State agencies, to prepare and release State agricultural estimates. These are listed on page 4. Most of the research staff conducting economic investigations in the States are stationed at the State agricultural colleges. These workers are listed on page 6.

PERIODICALS AND SCHEDULED REPORTS

SITUATION REPORTS

The Agricultural Situation is a printed monthly periodical. It contains brief reviews of current economic developments affecting farmers. Short articles analyze the situation as to marketing, food supplies, price conditions, scientific developments that affect agriculture, farm land values, farm-mortgage debt, etc. Outlook highlights are included, and one issue each year is devoted to the outlook for the succeeding year. The periodical is designed primarily for volunteer crop and price reporters and for county agents and other local agricultural workers.

Free distribution of this periodical is limited chiefly to workers in the categories listed above and to libraries, the press, and Government officials. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. for 50 cents a year (foreign rate 70 cents).

The Demand and Price Situation, issued monthly, reviews the factors that affect the demand for farm products--output and employment, income and related factors, commodity prices, and agricultural exports. This is followed by a brief review of farm income and a discussion of general trends in prices of the more important farm products. A table, Economic Factors Affecting Agriculture, shows index numbers of these and related factors. Provides more detailed and technical analyses than does "The Agricultural Situation." An annual Outlook issue appears each fall.

The Farm Income Situation, issued monthly, presents estimates of cash receipts from farm marketings by commodity groups and Government payments, for the two preceding months, with cumulative totals through the preceding month; index numbers of cash receipts and of physical volume of farm marketings for several preceding months; and for crops and livestock estimates, by States, of cash receipts from sales. From time to time annual estimates are included which show Government payments to farmers, by States; value of home consumption, by States, for crops and livestock; gross and net income of farm operators; cash receipts and home consumption by detailed commodities; and cash receipts from farm marketings, by States, by major individual commodities. Each fall an issue is devoted to the outlook for farm income for the succeeding year.

The Marketing and Transportation Situation is issued monthly. It contains statistical tables showing price spreads between the farmer and the consumer for foods and other farm products, and related information as to marketing charges, consumer expenditures for food products, and the share of the consumer's dollar that is received by farmers. Occasional summaries of recent developments in the field of marketing and transportation of farm products are included. Each issue ordinarily contains one or more signed articles which deal with some problem of marketing or transportation that is of current significance or which summarizes results of some phase of Bureau research. Each fall the outlook for marketing and transportation of farm products is analyzed.

The National Food Situation, issued quarterly, contains statistical tables showing per capita consumption of major foods; nutrients available for civilian consumption, production of major food commodities; and retail food prices and total consumer price index numbers. A nutritional review and reviews of supply, production, marketing, retail prices, and consumption of major foods are included.

The Farm Cost Situation, issued twice yearly, reviews the situation as to farm labor, farm power and machinery, feeds and livestock on feed or to be fed, seeds, fertilizer, lumber and building materials, containers and supplies, insecticides and fungicides, land values and rentals, interest, taxes, and insurance, and costs on farms of different types. Tables showing index numbers are included for goods and services used in production; prices and wage rates paid by farmers, United States; farm wage rates and related data; farm power and machinery; feed supplies in relation to livestock; retail seed prices; farm real estate; and in some issues, net income and total production and operating expense per dollar of gross farm income, family-operated farms, by type.

The following commodity situation reports give a fairly complete picture of the supply, demand, price, and outlook for each of the more important farm products for which adequate information is available. They contain information on the outlook for agricultural commodities to aid in planning production and marketing. Tables and charts present current figures on acreage, yield, production, market movement, stocks, consumption, and prices, with comparisons with other significant periods. From time to time the results of special studies relating to prices of the respective commodities are included.

The Cotton Situation, 8 times a year.

The Dairy Situation, monthly.

The Fats and Oils Situation, monthly.

The Feed Situation, 10 times a year.

The Fruit Situation, 4 times a year.

The Livestock and Meat Situation, monthly.

The Poultry and Egg Situation, 8 times a year.

The Tobacco Situation, 4 times a year.

The Vegetable Situation, 4 times a year.

The Wheat Situation, 6 times a year.

The Wool Situation, 4 times a year.

The World Sugar Situation, annually.

OUTLOOK INFORMATION

The Agricultural Outlook Digest appears monthly. As its name implies, it is a brief digest of current indications as to the outlook for production, farm employment, demand, exports, prices received by farmers, prices paid by farmers, and the outlook for various farm commodities. For the most part, it summarizes the Demand and Price Situation in two pages.

Agricultural Outlook Charts, issued each fall, contains graphic materials that are likely to be especially useful to Extension workers in presenting the basic facts for the major crop and livestock industries. Subjects covered include income payments, employment, prices paid and prices received by farmers, data relating to the major crops and livestock, and exports and imports of various farm commodities.

Photographic prints, dull or glossy, of separate charts and maps are for sale at 50 cents each for 8"x10" prints. Ozalid prints of outlook charts, 30"x40" in size, can be supplied for 58 cents each. Single bromide enlargements, 30"x40" in size, of charts and maps other than outlook charts, will be made for $1.83 each.

The situation reports listed above carry current outlook materials and an annual statement--published at the time of year when the farmer can make use of such data in preparing his production and marketing plans for the coming year. One complete issue of each situation report is devoted to this subject. Other materials, including some of the addresses made at the most recent Outlook Conference are listed on pages 39 and 40.

CHECK LIST

The Check List of publications, a monthly supplement to Agricultural Economic and Statistical Publications, lists Bureau publications, including charts and maps issued during the previous month. This list will prove helpful to those who wish to keep up to date on all material issued on a specific subject.

STATISTICAL SUMMARY

The Statistical Summary, which is prepared for ready-reference desk use, is a two-page monthly round-up of current information on farm income, prices paid and received by farmers, farm employment, marketing margins, production, stocks, and indications for principal crops and livestock and livestock products. It contains tables showing current index numbers for agriculture and parity prices for farm products compared with actual prices received.

AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS RESEARCH

Agricultural Economics Research, issued quarterly, began with the January 1949 issue. It is intended as a medium for the publication of technical articles which deal with methods, results, and findings of research in agricultural economics. Included are interim reports on work in progress, articles on new research methods or techniques, critical discussions of old techniques that are in regular use, and articles on new or expanding areas of research or statistical fact-gathering. Discussions of techniques cover the probable usefulness of new developments and the place of such new areas of work in the agricultural field. Invited to contribute to the journal are Bureau representatives, State statisticians and members of their staffs. Each issue carries a list of recent research and statistical publications in agricultural economics issued by the Bureau and cooperating State agencies.

Free distribution of this periodical is limited chiefly to professional workers. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C., for 75 cents a year (foreign rate $1.00). Single copies are 20 cents each.

AGRICULTURAL FINANCE

The Agricultural Finance Review, formerly issued semi-annually but during and since the war annually, discusses current developments and research findings in the various phases of agricultural finance. In addition, it is a basic source of financial data pertaining to agriculture in the United States. As such, it is intended for use by agricultural groups, government officials, economists, and educators who have need for a ready compilation of material relating to agricultural finance.

Signed articles by research specialists or officials of operating agencies and brief news items cover important developments in the changing financial situation of agriculture and in the financial institutions that serve agriculture. Research findings and analyses relate to such subjects as sources of capital used in agriculture, farm-mortgage credit, non-real-estate credit, financing of specialized activities such as purchase of machinery, storage of commodities, or construction and repair of buildings, agricultural risk and insurance, farm bankruptcies, farm real estate volume and transfers, taxation of farms and of farmers, and the interrelations of agriculture and public finance at local, State, and national levels.

A statistical appendix contains detailed data by States and by geographic divisions.

The Review carries a list of current research activities in agricultural finance as reported by Federal and State agencies. Reviews of pertinent books are included.

Those who are interested in further background information concerning agricultural finance should consult Miscellaneous Publication 567, Impact of the War on the Financial Structure of Agriculture, and Miscellaneous Publications 583, 620, 642, and 672, Agricultural Information Bulletins I and 26, The Balance Sheet of Agriculture for the years 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, and 1950. For publications which contain detailed treatment of certain specific phases of agricultural finance see Technical Bulletin 777, Country Banking in Wisconsin During the Depression; Miscellaneous Publication 478, Farm-Mortgage Credit Facilities in the United States; Miscellaneous Publication 621, Life Insurance for Farm Families, and Miscellaneous Publication 652, Managing Farm Finances. Additional reports are listed on pages 27 to 29.

AGRICULTURAL INCOME

The Farm Income Situation and other situation reports, for the most part, carry only current information and statistics relating to farm income. For historical series relating to cash and gross income from major crops and livestock products, net income from farming, and per capita income, both farm and nonfarm, see Agricultural Statistics, a printed annual publication of the Department to which the Bureau contributes, and Crops and Markets. The Income Parity reports listed on pages 41 to 42 contain sales and cash income from sales of each commodity reported upon by States over a period of years.

AGRICULTURAL PRICES

Agricultural Prices, issued monthly contains tables showing prices received by farmers for principal crops, livestock, and livestock products; prices paid by farmers for feeder livestock and livestock feed; index numbers of prices received by farmers; indexes of prices paid by farmers for articles bought; and parity prices for farm products with current average price as a percentage of the current parity price.

For the most part, Agricultural Prices, The Agricultural Situation, The Demand and Price Situation, and other situation reports contain only current information and statistics relating to agricultural prices. For historical statistical series see Agricultural Statistics, which contains series showing average prices of farm products, manufactured dairy products, textiles, oils, fungicides and insecticides, oleomargarine, gum naval stores, seeds, rosin, turpentine, etc. at specified markets; prices received by farmers and parity prices; index numbers of prices received by farmers; the farm-to-retail spread; prices paid by farmers; indexes of prices paid by farmers; and index numbers of wholesale prices. Crops and Markets contains supplementary series showing prices received by farmers, by States, by months, and for the United States; prices paid by farmers, by States and by selected months; price indexes; and market prices for grain on a cash basis. The Income Parity reports listed on pages 41 and 42 contain series of prices, yearly by States and the United States for the products and services they cover. Separate reports to be consulted include Fruit and Nut Prices; Prices received by Growers for Fruit and Nut Crops by Type of Sale and Utilization Groups, 1909-46; with Supplements bringing this publication to date issued in connection with Agricultural Prices in July, August, September; and October; Farm Production, Farm Disposition, and Value releases for individual commodities for varying periods of time beginning with 1909. These reports are brought to date in Farm Production, Farm Disposition and Value of Principal Crops published in May of each year for crops and in similar disposition reports for Dairy, Poultry, and Livestock items published in March and April each year.

The scope of the data relating to prices received and prices paid collected by the Department, the general procedures followed in preparing estimates of prices, the methods of collection of price data, and the use of the data in connection with price-support programs are discussed in Chapter 15 of The Agricultural Estimating and Reporting Services of the United States Department of Agriculture, issued in December 1949 as Miscellaneous Publication No. 703.

CROPS AND MARKETS

Crops and Markets, formerly issued quarterly, is now a printed annual publication designed chiefly to supplement Agricultural Statistics with detailed statistics by time periods and States. Data include estimates of important crops; historical and summary tables on crops; stocks of various grains; production of eggs and milk; livestock slaughter statistics; number of livestock on farms, by classes; prices received by farmers, by States and by months with an historical series for the United States; prices paid by farmers, by States and selected months and historical series for the United States; price indexes; and market prices for grain on a cash basis. Other statistics included relate to farm employment and wages, and farm income.

Distribution of this periodical is limited chiefly to workers in agricultural colleges and experiment stations and other institutions and to those individuals who assist the Department of Agriculture in collecting or disseminating information. Libraries, the press, and Government officials may also receive it.

FARM LABOR AND EMPLOYMENT

Farm Labor, issued monthly, contains each month a table showing persons employed, wage rates, and indexes of employment, wage rates and related data, with comparisons with previous months for the United States. Numbers of persons employed on farms--total, family and hired workers--for the United States and geographic divisions, with historic comparisons appear monthly. Persons employed and index numbers of employment and length of farm work-day for operators and for hired workers appear quarterly. Farm wage rates are given quarterly, beginning with the January issue, by nine different categories of rates for selected States and geographic regions.

Except for comparable data for the preceding month, quarter, and year, Farm Labor contains only current estimates. Those who wish statistical data for earlier years of the type contained in Farm Labor should consult Agricultural Statistics and Crops and Markets. Reports of wage surveys made in various parts of the country, wage analyses, and miscellaneous reports relating to farm employment and wages may be found on pp. 33 to 35.

Each year a special survey is made on the hired farm working force and a report is published on the total number of persons who work on farms for wages in the course of a year. Special attention was given to identification of migratory workers, their employment and wages in one of the reports issued in this series during 1950.

FARM POPULATION ESTIMATES

Farm Population Estimates, released during the summer months each year, contains annual estimates of the number of persons living on farms, movement from farms to towns and cities and from towns and cities to farms, and the number of births and deaths in the farm population. War and postwar changes in the farm population are given as percentages and in actual numbers. Figures are given for the United States as a whole, by major geographic divisions and by States. These estimates are based on data from the Censuses of Population and Agriculture, current enumerative sample surveys, and returns from farmers.

For the most part, these estimates contain only current figures and those for the years immediately preceding. For statistics relating to earlier years see Agricultural Statistics, which carries an historical series showing farm and nonfarm population; and Crops and Markets, which contains population tables that supplement those carried in Agricultural Statistics. Reports relating to population changes and migration of the farm population may be found on pp. 33 to 35.

Estimates of the composition of the farm population and related subjects are developed cooperatively with the Census Bureau and issued several times a year in the Census - BAE Series. In addition to estimates of the farm population by age, sex, and labor force status, recent issues of these series have included a delineation of State economic areas that are to be used in tabulations of the 1950 Censuses of Population and Agriculture.

THE FARM REAL ESTATE SITUATION

Current Developments in the Farm Real Estate Market, issued three times a year, (April, Aug. Dec.) summarizes significant facts on trends in land values, volume of sales, financing farm purchases, and influences in the land market. Index numbers of estimated value per acre, by States, are included in each issue. Graphic material is included occasionally.

The Farm Real Estate Situation, issued periodically as one of the circular series of the Department, reviews briefly the situation in general and summarizes significant facts on trends in farm land values, sales, and credit; farm income, land earnings, and values; and other influences in the farm real estate market.

For tables showing taxes and values of farm real estate over a period of years as well as other pertinent information see Agricultural Statistics. For separate reports and reports on the land market see those listed on pp. 35 to 37 of this publication.

NAVAL STORES

Production and Stocks of Naval Stores, issued monthly contains data showing production of Naval Stores at central gum stills and wood plants and stocks of turpentine, rosin and miscellaneous Naval Stores, which include pine oil, dipentene and other monocyclic hydrocarbons. The monthly average Savannah price is given for bulk spirits of turpentine per gallon, and gum rosin per 100 pounds. The monthly average price paid for crude gum delivered at central stills is also given.

Naval Stores Report, issued quarterly, gives data showing turpentine and rosin production, consumption, and stocks by positions; production and stocks of miscellaneous Naval Stores; and production of gum turpentine by States. Reports for the second, third, and fourth quarters show the production and consumption to date for the year. The report for the fourth quarter, called "Annual Report," shows the number of turpentine cups sold, value of gum Naval Stores production, the season average price paid for crude gum delivered at central gum stills and the season average Savannah price of turpentine and rosin.

These are current figures. For earlier series of statistics see Agricultural Statistics. Consult the index under Naval Stores, Rosin, and Turpentine. Prices for crop years are included.

RADIO SERVICES

National Network Programs: Economic information and statistical data based on Bureau research reports, situation analyses, and crop and livestock reports are included regularly in weekly farm programs broadcast by three of the major networks.

(1) The National Farm and Home Hour, broadcast coast-to-coast over the full United States network of the National Broadcasting Company, Saturdays, 1 p.m. EST.

(2) The American Farmer, broadcast over coast-to-coast network of the American Broadcasting Company, Saturdays, 12:30 p.m. EST.

(3) The CBS Farm News, a network program of the Columbia Broadcasting System--heard Saturdays, 3:30 p.m. EST., except during football season.

Similar economic and statistical information also goes regularly to 400 farm directors on the staffs of local radio stations in all parts of the country, through the "RFD Letter," written by the Radio and Television Service of USDA in the Office of Information. It supplies local farm broadcasters with weekly information on Department activities to help them develop their own programs.

Regional and Local Programs: General and statistical information including special local and regional programs is prepared on request for local radio stations and regional networks, as necessary. Much of the general information on crop conditions and economic trends released by offices of the 41 State Agricultural Statisticians is used by local radio farm directors.

Farm Flashes: This is a service through which additional economic information and statistics are provided by the Radio and Television Service of the Department to listeners of approximately 600 local stations throughout the country. In most instances the Flashes are transmitted through the State extension services, where they are further localized. In addition to the above, materials are provided through the USDA Office of Information to three major press associations for press and radio use.

Television: The Bureau cooperates with the Office of Information of the Department in presenting economic information and statistics by television, as facilities permit.
